Preparing a Big Row.

NEW YORK, Feb 4.—A Post Harrisburg special says Senator Cameron was about the hotel all night endeavoring to arrange a compromise but his efforts have been of no avail except in few individual cases. Cameron insists on carrying out his original plan of instructing the delegation to vote as a unit for Grant. Through his lieutenants this morning, Cameron freely makes a threat that if the Blaine men go on with their fight in the convention not a Blaine man will be allowed in the Chicago delegation. The Blaine folks make a counter threat, in that event they will go back to their districts and elect delegates by a popular vote of the party and appeal directly to the Chicago convention for recognition. They say this would destroy the moral force of the Cameron packed delegation

WASHINGTON CITY.

Discussion of the Morton Case in the Senate.

WASHINGTON, Feb 4.—To-day's executive session of the senate was devoted to the discussion of the nomination of John M. Morton to be collector of internal revenue for the San Francisco district. Arguments in opposition to his confirmation were to the effect that Morton is not identified with California, having within the last four years been appointed to the treasury special agency of the Alaska fur seal islands from Indiana that while his personal character is unexceptionable, he is not fitted by business training or experience for the highly important office for which he is nominated, and that there is no complaint made against the present incumbent. It was also argued that as the senate with the same members as at the present, unanimously confirmed Morton last spring to be consul at Honolulu the office he now holds, and no stigma could attach to him by refusing to confirm his nomination for the San Francisco collectorship to which he has been nominated against the united protest of the entire California delegation in both houses and both political parties. The case went over to-day without action. Booth and Farley made the principal speeches against confirmation and Voorhees spoke in favor of it.

The Star Route Postal Service.

WASHINGTON, Feb 4.—Investigation of the star route service was continued to day. John A. Walsh, at present a contractor on the Santa Fe and Prescott route gave spicy testimony. It was a popular fallacy that there was a bonanza in every star route contract. He was led to believe by the former holders of his contract that there was good profit in it at the original figures, and though he lost heavily at first, it became a matter of pride with him to hold on to the contract. He proposed to wrestle with it, and hoped at the present figure $135 900 per annum, to save his fleece, though the compensation ought to be $200 000

An Idaho Measure.

The house committee on territories agreed to-day to report favorably to the house a bill introduced by Delegate Ainslie, of Idaho, which empowers the U. S. marshal of Idaho to employ at hard labor all prisoners convicted and sentenced to hard labor in the prisons of said territory. It provides that the proceeds of said prison labor shall be held subject to the order of the attorney general and be devoted to defraying the expenses of the prisons of said territory. This bill is intended to meet complaints on the part of the people of the territory that heretofore they were compelled to meet all expenses of their prisoners while the government received and retained the proceeds of their prison labor

A WHOLESALE BUTCHERY

An Entire Family Murdered in Ontario

Details of the Horrible Affair—No Clue to the Murderers

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN]

LUCAN, Ont, Feb 4.—For some time past incendiary fires and other [illegible] have been of frequent occurrence in this neighborhood and a man named Donnelly [illegible] subjected. A [illegible] has existed against him and his family throughout the township. A vigilance committee was formed some time ago by settlers as a means of protection from these [illegible] other precautionary measures having [illegible] to bring about a remedy. The barn was on the [illegible] farm [illegible] burned [illegible] 1st of January and old Donnelly and his wife were arrested at the time on suspicion [illegible] implicated in the burning. Their examination was still pending and was to have been closed to day but the morning light displayed a ghastly spectacle of the remains of the inmates of the Donnelly homestead after having been horribly hacked with a knife. It appears that about twenty men were engaged in the bloody work. A boy named Conners belonging to the village was staying in the house over night. When the attack was made he crept under a bed without being discovered. When the murders were committed the house was fired and the gang decamped. The boy then emerged from his hiding place started for the village and informed the authorities. The persons murdered are James and Judy Donnelly, Thomas, the youngest son, and Bridget a niece. At about the same time (midnight) another party called at the residence of William Donnelly three miles distant from his father's house and awoke him. His brother John being in the house arose and went to the door when two shots from a revolver were fired killing him

The bodies of the murdered family were almost burned to a cinder, the old man and girl are lying close together in the northwest corner of the house. The old man's skull was broken. Mrs Donnelly is lying in one of the middle rooms and shows evidence of being beaten to death. The son lies in the front of the house. It would appear from large clots of blood on the outside of the door that he was killed outside and thrown into the burning building. There is yet no clue to the perpetrators of this wholesale murder. A jury has been summoned and an inquest will be held at once

The Yakima Record asserts that not one tenth of the land on the Yakima reservation is put under cultivation and the most of it is devoted to grazing. We know that we are speaking in bounds of truth when we state that within the limits of the Yakima reservation there is room for over 3000 farms of 100 acres each. Of what good to civilization is all this immense body of fine land under the present condition of affairs. The Indians do not cultivate to any extent nor are the whites permitted to do so.

Mr M[illegible] in a paper advocating the construction of a railroad up [illegible] Flat, says: There are twenty-five townships of cultivatable land tributary directly to this road; these three are 460 800 acres of land and if only one fourth of this area were sown in wheat with an average product of [illegible] bushels per acre it would amount in the aggregate to 2 875 000 bushels each year and at the present price of 50 cents per bushel would bring to the farmers in this region the annual sum of $1 43[illegible] 500. At the present rates of transportation of grain from upper [illegible] to deep water we cannot hope to make farming a very profitable industry, but by the construction of a road we are enabled to reduce rates ten cents per bushel, it would be an annual saving [illegible] or what is the same a profit—on the above named product of $[illegible] 500

Court convened at 2 P. M.

J. H. Tichnor respondent vs Jason Springer Watson & Springer H. L. Smith and Warren Tilsbury defendants and Clifford [illegible] assignee defendants appellants appeal from Coos county. Opinion of court by Kelly C. J.

SYLLABUS

Where the holder of a promissory note commenced action on it against the maker and attached his property and afterward the defendant assigned his property under the provisions of the assignment law of October 18 1878 for the benefit of all his creditors and the assignee before judgment was obtained filed motion in the court for leave to interplead in order to have the attachment dissolved, and the court denies such motion held that under the code the assignee was not authorized to interplead and that it was not error in the court to deny the motion

Held further that in such case the attachment was discharged at the date of the assignment by force of the assignment itself. Judgment of the court below affirmed. Boise J dissenting

J. B. Tichnor respondent vs Jason Springer appellant appeal from Coos county (second case). Opinion of the court by Kelly C. J.

This case is in essential is the same as the one between the same parties just now decided and for the reasons stated in the opinion of the court in that case judgment below affirmed

B. F. Drake respondent vs James K. Sears appellant appeal from Polk county. Opinion of the court by Boise J

Syllabus.—In case of a breach of warranty on the sale of an engine to be used in elevating grain at a warehouse the warrantee is entitled to recover of the warrantor such damages as naturally according to the usual course of things would result from the breach and the necessary expense incurred by the warrantee in putting up the said engine would be such natural damages so also the expense incurred by the warrantee in handling and storing grain while trying to work the engine which proved a failure

As a rule the laws of profits of a business that has been interrupted by a breach of warranty can not be claimed unless the parties are shown to have contemplated or can reasonably be presumed to have contemplated such loss at the time the contract was made. Judgment of the court below reversed

W. R. Findley respondent vs H. Taylor Hill et al appellants appeal from Polk county. Opinion of court by Prim J

Syllabus.—An agreement between the creditor and principal debtor without the assent of the surety to extend the time of payment of a promissory note due the 2d day of January 1879 until after harvest in consideration that the debtor would not pay in wheat was insufficient to extend the time of payment upon the note on the ground that said agreement was void for the lack of any consideration to support it and on the ground that after harvest was an indefinite and uncertain time. When the debt becomes due the request of the surety to sue the principal debtor who is then solvent and the creditor fails to do so and the principal afterward becomes insolvent the surety will not thereby be discharged. Judgment of the court below affirmed

John A. Crawford appellant vs S. H. Rogers, resp appeal from Linn county. Opinion of court by Prim, J

Syllabus.—An answer which alleges that the note on which the action is based was executed in the state of California and that the maker thereof was a resident of said state at the time of its execution and has been ever since is insufficient under section 26 of the code to authorize the pleading of the statute of limitation in force in California in bar of the action. It must be averred that the cause of action arose in that state and between non residents of this state

A release of one joint maker of a joint and several promissory note by the holder thereof operates as a discharge of all the joint parties to said note

Under the act of 1876 an affidavit to an attachment need not state the probative facts out of which the indebtedness of defendant arose but it is sufficient if the ultimate facts required by the statute be shown as the basis of the writ. Judgment of court below modified

A SOMEWHAT SINGULAR DISCUSSION.

The New York Independent is a conspicuous journal of a well known class of weeklies which are usually designated as members of the "religious press." These journals have a religious tone, and yet are not notable either for devotional religion or conservative theology. In many respects their literary characteristics are excellent. Many of their articles evince culture and scholarship, if not deeply religious, these journals are usually reverent in tone, and while it sometimes seems a misnomer to call them religious publications, they are free at least from cant, and from slavish adherence to an affected phraseology of sanctity and pietism, which has often done much to bring religion into contempt, and to wound her at her own altars and among her friends.

But what we began to say was that the Independent not long ago created something of a sensation by saying that the evolution theory of the creation was now so fully accepted by scientists that the Christian theology must adapt itself to it. The statement was, indeed, much too broad; for scientists, whatever they may think of the Christian theology, are as yet by no means agreed as to the evolution theory. The Independent went on to say: "We are all taught in our best schools, by our scientific authorities almost without exception, (and we laymen in science are therefore compelled to believe) that man was, at least so far as his physical structure is concerned, evolved from irrational animals. We therefore cannot help doubting, as every thinking and scholarly young man (in these schools) must and does doubt, whether the story of the fall in the first Adam is historical." The two parts of this statement need not be connected as they are here. One may doubt whether the story of the fall in the first Adam is strictly historical, as many do, without deriving that doubt from any belief as to whether man was evolved from the irrational animals, or not. Few, indeed, suppose that the story of the fall of the first Adam is a literal story of an historical event that happened as there narrated—as, for example, the story of the life and death of Socrates; but it is a story which embodies profound truth as to the nature and condition of man, whether we call it an allegory or what else. As to the evolution of man, even so far as his physical structure is concerned (for that is the text) from the irrational animals, the schools of science certainly are not agreed thereon, howsoever devoted they may be to the generalities of the evolution theory. So on this side of its statement the Independent was not accurate, either. But the extremely conservative New York Observer, champion of patristic theology and orthodoxy, fell upon the passage in the Independent and resolved to bring that journal to confusion. It clipped out the paragraph and sent it to nine different college presidents, and in the course of a week was able to overwhelm its adversary, as it supposed, with their replies. Dr. Porter of Yale, said: "The enclosed does not give a correct representation of the teachings in this college by our scientific authorities." Dr. McCosh, of Princeton, replied: "In answer to your inquiries I have to state that we do not teach in this college that man is 'evolved from irrational animals.' I teach that man's soul was made in the image of God, and his body out of the dust of the ground. I do not oppose development, but an atheistic development." Dr. Chadbourne of Williams answered: "The doctrine is not taught here that man, even in his physical nature, was evolved from the lower animals. Wallace, who claims with Darwin the honor of the doctrine known as 'Darwinism,' admits that its principles fail when applied to man." President Cattell of Lafayette replied: "I have never heard of any of my colleagues expressing, either in private or in the class room, the opinion referred to in the slip you send me." Dr. Brown of Hamilton reported: "The doctrine of the 'evolution of man from the irrational animals' has never, to my knowledge, been taught in Hamilton college. I trust it never will be till it is proved to be true, as in my judgment it has not been, and I do not think it ever will be." President Potter of Union declared, "The printed statement you forward is not a correct statement of the teaching in this college." President Robinson of Brown university replied, "We do not teach the doctrine stated in the enclosed slip." Dr. Anderson of Rochester university protested that "we have never taught in our institution that man is 'evolved from irrational animals,' for the simple reason that we believe the notion to be an unverified hypothesis." And President Seelye of Amherst responded: "This college does not yet teach groundless guesses for ascertained truths of science. So long as the notion that man is evolved from the monkey or from any irrational animal has not a single fact to rest upon, and is in flat contradiction to all the facts of history, I think we may leave it with the sciolists."

These answers to the Independent's averment were presented by the Observer as an avalanche of official denial. Looking them over the reader will see that most of them are carefully worded, so as not to deny positively the evolution theory, but that as to the evolution of man it has not been proven true, and they do not think it ever will be. It is truly stated by one of presidents as an "unverified hypothesis." But the Independent appealed from the presidents to the scientific departments of the colleges, and claimed the following results: Professors Dana and Marsh, of Yale, are both pronounced Darwinists, and evolutionists. So are Verril, Brewer, Smith and other science teachers of Yale. At Princeton, McCloskie, the professor of natural history, Young, professor of astronomy, and Bracket, of physics, are outspoken evolutionists. Prof. Packard, of Brown university, has written books defending evolution. In Amherst the professor of geology is "an unreserved theistic evolutionist who teaches the antiquity of the human race." Parading this testimony the Independent claims to have established the correctness of its first assertion. In fact, however, there is something like evasion on both sides. The presidents did not fully sustain the claim of the Observer, nor did the professors fully sustain that of the Independent. Few scientists, it is believed, are ready to advance the unqualified opinion that man was evolved from the lower animals, though all scientists are naturally careful to avoid the statement that this or that thing in the field of science is impossible. And the true religious scientist is careful not to dogmatize on science in the name of religion. The truth is that while the evolution theory as to the origin of man has certain analogies to support it, it as yet presents no facts which could lead to statements so positive as those made by the Independent, and it is hardly possible that it ever will. When science forgets its mission and begins to dogmatize, it can equal in this line the most rigorous theology that ever formulated phrases to confound the intellect and perplex the belief.

THE GERMS OF DISEASE.

It cannot [illegible] doubted that spread of knowledge as to [illegible] certain common and very fatal diseases [illegible] conveyed, is doing much to diminish [illegible] of such diseases and therefore rendering them far less frequent and less terrible to mankind. It is probably as easy to prevent the spread of diphtheria and typhoid fever as small pox, or indeed easier; and yet because it has not been generally known, and even yet is not universally known, that the two former are infectious or communicable, they have been permitted to extend their ravages, while small pox has been held in check, and, indeed, wherever it has appeared has been pursued until exterminated. Yet now it is coming to be known that each of the deadly diseases is propagated by contagion, infection or in some similar way. "How Typhoid Fever is Conveyed" is the subject of an interesting article in the Popular Science Monthly for February. This fever, as the writer observes, is one of the most serious ailments of civilized life. No household is safe against it; there is no family it may not invade. But it never occurs by chance in every case there must be exposure to the germ that produces it. This germ is a parasitic organism which, in its development, follows strictly its own law.

One of the peculiarities of parasites is that they flourish not in every part of their host, but only in some particular organ or tissue, which is called the nidus or nest of the parasite. Each parasite has its own nidus, its own local habitat, in which it is propagated, and out of which it ceases to be reproduced. The poison of smallpox has its nidus in the deep layer of the skin; hence its characteristic eruptions. That of scarlet fever in the superficial layer of the skin and in the throat; hence the rash and sore throat of that disease. That of measles in the skin and in the mucus membrane of the passages; hence its characteristic symptoms. That of typhoid fever in the glands of the intestines, hence the disease consists of fever and ulceration of the bowels.

But the germ of a disease will not act unless it reaches its nidus. It may therefore enter the system, make the round of circulation and pass out again, without ever finding lodgment or coming in contact with its nidus, and therefore without doing harm. The more widely the nidus is diffused the less likely this is to happen. In small pox and in measles the nidus is widely scattered. In neither of them is the germ likely to make its round without finding its nidus. But in typhoid fever the nidus is situated in a limited portion of the intestine, and the typhoid germ, unless taken in through the digestive organs, is not likely to enter that particular vessel. Hence typhoid fever is not so communicable as the measles or small pox. But the poison, propagated in the intestine, is thrown off with the discharges, and in contact with these lies the danger. Probably the most common danger is in cases where the poison is thrown upon the ground or into vaults, and allowed to percolate through the soil into drinking water. Propagation of the disease is almost sure under these conditions.

Young children, this writer says, rarely have the typhoid fever, because the glands which constitute its nidus are in infancy quite rudimentary. Again, after forty years of age, they begin to diminish, and at seventy have lost their functional activity. Hence neither very young nor very old persons are likely to have this fever. The period of greatest liability to it begins at fifteen or sixteen, and terminates perhaps at forty five.

This is but a very brief outline of the article referred to, but it conveys its principal statements. Whether the conclusions are absolutely correct or not, the subject is one of deep interest and importance. The argument is, moreover, directly in the line of the generally accepted conclusions of modern medical science that the poisons of the deadly fevers are parasitic germs which grow or develop as they come in contact with those parts of the human system which are the supposed seats of their propagation.

VALUATION OF PROPERTY.

The value of taxable property in the state, as shown by the returns of assessors to the secretary of state for 1879 was $46,617,878, of which nearly one-fourth was returned by Multnomah county. Under any proper system of valuation the whole amount of taxable property in the state could not be less than $150,000,000. The valuation of Linn county, for example, is about $4,500,000, while $15,000,000 in cash would not cover the property of that county. Marion's valuation is under $4,000,000; yet if the assessor who values the property of the county at this rate, though instructed by law to place it at its true cash value, were empowered to buy out the property of the county and furnished the money wherewith to do it, not less than three or four times his four millions would be required. The actual value of property in Multnomah county is not much less than the entire valuation of the state as returned by the assessors under our unequal and imperfect system. Yet the property of Multnomah is valued fully as high in proportion as that of the other counties. The thing to do is to reform the system altogether. Abandon the vain effort to tax invisible, intangible and fictitious property; refuse all deductions for indebtedness, except perhaps such as may be evidenced by mortgage—and we think it would be even better to refuse these too; tax actual property at a fair valuation wherever found, and create a board of equalization—not a cumbrous or expensive one—to adjust valuations between the several counties so that the state tax may be equal, uniform and fair. Something must be done to stop tax-shirking, else through various devices which are being continually invented and employed under a pernicious system, and which that pernicious system directly invites, the burdens of taxation will become more and more unequal, the state will appear to be making no progress and its whole valuation will show less than that of a fourth city and county in Illinois or Ohio.

The republican convention of Pennsylvania, made up largely of packed delegations appointed by committees, has instructed the delegates of that state to the Chicago convention to vote as a unit for Grant. For such instruction there was but twenty majority; though the convention had been packed expressly to secure such result. There was vigorous opposition to the programme of those who are trying to force Grant upon the party against all its former declarations and policy and against the traditions of the country. It is an opposition which will prove portentous, should the programme be pushed with prospects of being carried through. This action in Pennsylvania, disclosing as it does the fact that the Grant party intend to push their scheme with all their might will arouse a more powerful opposition than ever to the third term. The republican party cannot be converted into a Grant party. But the opponents of the Grant party in Pennsylvania did not put their opposition on the strongest ground. It was not their part to make a fight for Blaine, but to take a firm stand against the third term, and to make the Grant party know what they may find out later, that the way to a division of the republican party is through politics of this kind.

In our local columns is an account of the "boom" of real estate in this city, which will be found to contain matter of interest. Quite as remarkable an instance of the "rise" as anything there reported may, however, be noticed in the case of the piece of school property which Gov. Thayer sold lately for $[illegible], and which was worth ten months afterwards not less than $6000.

SPECIAL DEPOSIT SURVEYS.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR,
GENERAL LAND OFFICE,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan'y 19, 1880.

Sir: Abuses having been practiced under the law governing deposits by settlers for the survey of public lands, I am directed by the Department to issue the following additional instructions in relation thereto:

1. Any application made by settlers for the survey of public lands at their expense, under the provisions of section 2401 of the Revised Statutes of the United States, must be duly sworn to by the person or persons making the same. It must designate the township to be surveyed, and shall state that the applicants are actual bona fide settlers therein; that they are well acquainted with the character of the land included in said township; and, further, that the same is not mineral. Accompanying this application must be the affidavits of at least two competent, disinterested witnesses, which will corroborate in full the allegations contained in said application.

2. Copies of the application and affidavits duly certified by the Surveyor General of the district within which such lands are situated, must be transmitted to this office with the contract and bond entered into for the survey thereof.

3. These instructions will take effect from and after the date of their receipt, and you are directed to cause their publication once a week for four consecutive weeks, in two newspapers of general circulation, one published at Portland, and the other at Lakeview, the cost thereof to be payable out of the contingent fund of your office.

Very Respectfully, J. M. ARMSTRONG,
Acting Commissioner.

To U. S. SURVEYOR GENERAL, Portland, Oregon.

[The above instructions went into effect in the District of Oregon on the 2d day of February, 1880.] 1d4tw4t

A REAL ESTATE BOOM

INTERVIEWS WITH THE LEADING DEALERS OF PORTLAND

Showing an Advance of 25 to 50 per cent in all kinds of Property within Two Years—A Few Instances of Marked Increase in Value—The River Front

The most prophetic moods of those who first settled upon the site of Portland would hardly have induced them to expect the situation of affairs which have been realized since the first [illegible] was erected where now stands [illegible] of the northwest Steadily and permanently has the progress been from the very beginning and though at times [illegible] native [illegible] values may have been placed on real estate at no time has there been [illegible] in the market and those who were able to secure blocks have been compelled to pay for them a substantial price Sales may have been slow at times but real estate owners have always been confident of the growth and prosperity of our city Four years ago the week kneed and doubting lost faith and some began to grow weary in waiting for the future But there were still sufficient indications to the [illegible] and those who held on have more than proved the wisdom of their course For two years past the increase in population advance in rents and enhancement in the value of real property have been even more than was looked for by the most hopeful

Recent transactions have indicated a marked advance over the prices at which property has been held for the past two years and in order to ascertain as correctly as possible the state of the real estate market a representative of THE OREGONIAN yesterday called on the prominent dealers and the result of the interview is given below They indicate throughout that there is not only a notable appreciation in the value of real estate but that the advance has been gradual and based on the income derived, or to be derived from the property

J L Atkinson of Atkinson & Wakefield in answer to the question How is real estate as compared with the last two years? said— It's a great deal better and there is a much better outlook Prices are at least 25 per cent higher than one year ago on all classes of city property and the demand is fair There are very few dwellings for rent and we have a demand every day for building lots at good prices

"How about building next year?"

"I judge there will be one third more buildings erected this year than last I never saw as much preparation for building as during this winter and I base my estimate on the preparations in former years

How is business property paying?

"I think I am safe in saying that business property will average at least 9 per cent per annum clear of insurance and taxes Some of course pays more but taking it all through 8 per cent would be about the correct figure There is a great demand just now for unimproved lots and residence property especially lots worth all the way from $600 to $2000 for residences There was one good feature in real estate last year Builders went very little into debt and the feeling this year seems to be to incur still less incumbrance on property

P W Gillette, in answer to the reporter's inquiry as to the condition of real estate said There has been a healthy advance, gradual and steady for the past two years I think the portion of the city which showed the first marked advance was the residence district from Stark up to Main and from Sixth back to Tenth and Twelfth But now the advance has extended north of B out to Twentieth clear out to the hills, back to the river front—everywhere all over the city

Is there much speculative movement in real estate?

No, very little indeed Nearly all purchases are either for personal use or because the property is a good investment. There is none of that feeling which prompted persons to invest during the excitement of 1870-71 and I think the recent advance due to a legitimate growth and demand

Van B. DeLashmutt of DeLashmutt & Oatman in answer to the regular question said I think that Portland property on an average is 50 per cent higher than two years ago

Will that hold good in all classes of property?

No not in all classes but I am quite sure that it is true of nearly all unimproved business and residence property I know of a lot on Second street, between Oak and Pine, which was offered for $3000 less than two years ago. It was sold shortly afterwards for $4000, and recently for $6000 Last spring a year ago two lots between Second and Third, Washington and Stark, were offered for $9500 They were sold within the last three months for $16 000 A residence lot corner of Second and F was bought early in 1878 for $2100 The owner expended $500 or $600 in filling it up, and made a sale in November last for $5000 In neither of these sales was there a special demand for the properties I could name many other transactions showing a like advance

J I. C. Lownsdale stated that there had been a slow but steady advance for the past 18 months affecting all classes of city property and farms in the immediate neighborhood There is an active demand from parties with surplus money for investment in city property of every kind between now and spring and a decidedly firm feeling on the part of holders I also notice some speculative demand that is to buy and wait for a further advance. But most customers are looking for safe investments and I predict an increased trade during the coming season

C A Wood stated that the demand for real estate was double what it was at this time last year at prices ranging from 10 to twenty five per cent higher than a year ago and as far as residence property is concerned fifty per cent higher than two years ago The increase in improved business property is not so marked but there is a great demand for business property which two years ago had only a nominal value and which now is held at figures considerably above such former value There is also quite a demand for cheap lots on the installment plan from laborers mechanics and clerks but there are few lots to be had on such terms

L M Parrish of Parrish & Cornell said that real estate was firm, and that large transactions were looked for within the next sixty days that prices were way above last year—from twenty five to fifty per cent, owing to locality Mr Parrish cited as instances a corner lot on B street which was sold eighteen months ago for $6000 The owner erected a building costing $1200 and yesterday refused an offer of $12 000 A wholesale merchant bought a business house on Front street, centrally located about four months ago for $10 000 and last week had an offer of $13000 for it.

F Patterson expressed about the same views concerning the advance of property as were given by the other gentlemen interviewed and was of the opinion that the transactions during the coming three months would be larger than in any like period of the city's history He thought from the inquiries for lots already made that more buildings would be erected this year than last although the combined value would scarcely approximate the amount expended last year.

THE RIVER FRONT

As the exports of wheat to foreign countries have increased within the past few years so, in like proportion has all property along the river front from Smith's dock down to the bone yard until now a holder can almost dictate his own price A recent transaction illustrates a remarkable advance Liebe and Hoelbing bought of Mrs Griswold Dec 15, 1879, 85½ feet frontage on which was situate the building damaged by fire last spring for $17 800 and sold the same property last Saturday for $25 000 A strip of 25 feet adjoining, was offered six weeks ago for $5500 and was sold last Saturday for $7000

A HOTEL FOR PORTLAND

PLAN FOR ERECTION OF A FIRST CLASS HOTEL IN OUR CITY.

A Long Needed Enterprise to be Undertaken—Sketch of the Plan

Portland has long needed a hotel first class in size and appointments For years it has been regarded as a sort of reproach that a city which was making rapid strides [illegible] [illegible] hotel equal to [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] have been [illegible] holders at [illegible] a hotel but one [illegible] the plans have [illegible] which has been waiting [illegible] [illegible] there is now a [illegible] hotel which means a final [illegible] result

To Mr Henry Villard who since his connection began with the [illegible] has constantly been vigilant and earnest in developments of plans and measures for promotion of the interests of the country and the growth of Portland the new scheme owes its origin He is working it up in New York and proposes now to see what our people are willing to do here It is to be undertaken strictly as a business enterprise and is expected to pay a fair return—though at first of course only a moderate one—upon the investment A hotel to answer present and future requirements—for it is proposed in erection of it to anticipate the wants of the future—it is estimated will cost $500 000 This will include furniture and outfit and cost of a suitable block for such a structure Mr Villard some time since referred the proposition to start such enterprise to Mr Warren Leland whom most of our people know as an experienced and veteran hotel manager The plan roughly stated as outlined by Mr Villard and Mr Leland was this A part of the money to be subscribed in New York and part in Portland the building to be erected under experienced superintendency and responsible management bonds to be issued to each subscriber in proportion to his interest with the property as security hereafter for Mr Leland to assume the management of the hotel and to pay over to trustees a certain fixed proportion of the gross receipts for payment of interest and to make a fund for gradual payment of the bonds The bonds would bear interest at some rate to be agreed upon perhaps seven per cent premium After each subscriber has received back his principal in full with interest thereon the hotel would be the property of Mr Leland and those who might be associated with him What proportion of the money it is proposed to secure in New York and what proportion here we cannot yet precisely say but we can say confidently that there is an actual intention to push the enterprise and a movement in that direction

One of the first things to do is to obtain a proper site Mr S G Reed before leaving New York was requested by Mr Villard to look after this matter but he has been so busily occupied since his arrival that he has not as yet settled this question to his satisfaction Recently he received the following message

New York Jan 30

To S G Reed Have you found suitable location for proposed hotel and at what price?

H VILLARD

Owing to necessity of attending to other business which awaited his arrival or has since accumulated in consequence of the extended operations which the Oregon Railway and Navigation Company, of which Mr Reed is vice president have undertaken, Mr Reed has been unable to return satisfactory answer to Mr Villard so he has submitted the matter to Mayor Thompson, who is always ready to take hold of anything in the line of important business to further the interests of the city and the development of the country Mr Thompson is now prosecuting his inquiries as to a location or site for the proposed hotel An entire block will be required and several have already been considered The matter will probably take the shape virtually of asking tenders for a site and the place will be chosen which on the whole is deemed best for business and best for the price Perhaps it might be as well to say that no fancy price will be paid simply because the seller may suppose he can get about what he might choose to ask since there are many locations which would answer well for such a hotel,

There are those who have large interests in Portland who could and should take active part in this enterprise Portland greatly needs it As an investment it will be put on such a basis that the money will be absolutely safe Mr Villard means business He has interested parties in New York in the undertaking and their money will be forthcoming as soon as proper arrangements are made here It is important to secure co operation of these New York parties now while they are in the humor for the investment. There should be no delay in getting a proper site and no difficulty in securing from capitalists and property holders here subscriptions for half the necessary money at once—or indeed all of it if that were necessary Since eastern capital is exhibiting of late so great faith in our country and its future, it certainly does not become our own citizens who have capital at command to hesitate

Taxation.

PORTLAND Jan 31, 1880.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TELEGRAM

I beg to assure the First National Bank and Ladd & Tilton that I had no desire whatever to challenge their integrity or doubt their tax statements. What I did was merely to publish in self defense the official statement procured by me from the county assessor of the various state and county taxes paid by all the banks in this city, including our own (which shows no taxes paid by First National Bank), in order to refute a malicious attack made by a correspondent in THE OREGONIAN (who had not the courage to sign his name or even a cognomen), to the effect first, that our bank paid no taxes whatever and second, that our borrowers at the same time deducted every dollar from their property returns of their indebtedness to us payable at Dundee, Scotland a statement which the writer, whoever he was knew to be false. If the Oregonian had as it ought to have done, asked me before publishing that malicious letter whether the statements therein were true, neither the names nor statements of taxes of the First National nor Ladd & Tilton or any other bank would have been published But I was bound for the protection of the interests of our bank, to show by comparison with the other banks' tax returns that we paid our share of taxes equally as they did Pardon me in saying one word The taxes which all national banks as corporations, do pay to the United States, are no more and no less than what all other banks in this city pay to the United States for the same facilities including our own bank, excepting this, that national banks are not required and do not personally pay any State county or city taxes as the other banks in this city do The taxes which our bank offered to pay and do pay on $100 000 were entirely gratuitous as there is no law to compel us to pay any taxes whatever

THE YAMHILL EMBEZZLEMENT

The Judgment against ex-Sheriff Dale Affirmed by the Supreme Court

THE SUPREME COURT OF THE STATE OF OREGON [illegible] TERM 1880

The State of Oregon plaintiff and respondent vs H C Dale defendant and appellant. Appeal from Yamhill county

Statement of the Case. The defendant was sheriff and tax collector of Yamhill county from July [illegible] to July 1 1878. He was indicted by the grand jury of said county at the March term of the circuit court of said county for 1879 for larceny of public money. The following is a copy of the indictment to wit

In the circuit court of the state of Oregon within and for Yamhill county. State of Oregon plaintiff vs H C Dale defendant — Indictment

H C Dale is accused by the grand jury of Yamhill county and state of Oregon by this indictment of the crime of the larceny of public money committed as follows. The said H C Dale was committed as follows [illegible] the duly elected qualified and acting sheriff and tax collector of the county of Yamhill in the state of Oregon from the first Monday in July 1876 until the first Monday in July A D 1878 and as such sheriff and tax collector of said Yamhill county said H C Dale had received and had in his possession in said Yamhill county on the [illegible] day of August 1878 the sum of $3000 in gold and silver coin of the United States of America belonging to and being the property of said county of Yamhill which sum he had received and collected between the 15th day of September [illegible] and the 7th day of August A D 1878 as taxes assessed and duly levied by the county court of said county and that the said H C Dale in the said county and that [illegible] in said Yamhill 7th day of August A D 1878 in said Yamhill county state of Oregon then and there being and having in his possession said sum of $3000 which belonged to and was the personal property of said Yamhill county Oregon and which he had collected and received as taxes aforesaid did then and there, fraudulently and feloniously take steal and make way with embezzle and convert to his and H C Dale's own use the said $3000 and then and there neglected and refused to pay over and does still neglect and refuse to pay over to the said county of Yamhill said $3000 or any part thereof as by law directed and required said county of Yamhill being at the said time a public corporation in the state of Oregon and the grand jury being unable to give or ascertain a more definite description of said money than that above given contrary to the statute in such cases made and provided and against the peace and dignity of the state of Oregon. Dated at Lafayette in Yamhill county Oregon this 28th day of March A D 1879

J J WHITNEY District Att'y

The defendant was arraigned upon and pleaded not guilty to said indictment at the March term of said court, A D 1879. No demurrer was filed to said indictment. On motion of the defendant the case was postponed until the October term of said circuit court for 1879. The defendant was tried on said indictment and a verdict of which the following is a copy was rendered on the 10th day of October 1879 to wit

The State of Oregon pltff vs H C Dale deft.

We the jury in the above entitled action find defendant guilty as charged in the indictment, and find that the amount of money converted was the sum of $2500.

J M HOLSTON, Foreman

October 10, 1879

On the 15th day of October 1879 the defendant was sentenced to imprisonment in the penitentiary for the term of five years and fined $5000. From this judgment the defendant has appealed to this court, and asks that the same be reversed for alleged errors occurring on the trial, and which are hereinafter set forth. There were two bills of exceptions allowed in the case—the one last signed corrects and amends the first.

SYLLABUS

Where the statute makes the commission of different acts a crime and uses the word "or" connecting these acts an indictment is good which charges the defendants with the commission of more than one of these acts using the conjunction "and" to connect these acts in the indictment.

When an objection to a juror is that he is drawn from a particular panel, and not that the juror is personally disqualified or improperly summoned, such objection is a challenge to the panel.

In a prosecution of a sheriff for converting money collected by him as taxes it is competent to show that he received sums of money from different individual taxpayers.

Money collected by a sheriff for taxes is the property of the county in the hands of the sheriff, and he may be guilty of larceny by converting the same to his own use.

OPINION BY BOISE, J

The appellant claims that the indictment in this case does not charge a crime. There was no demurrer filed to the indictment in the circuit court and the appellant has in the argument failed to point out any defect in the indictment except this. It is claimed that it charges the defendant with converting the money and also with having failed to pay it over. Either of these acts would be a crime, and as he is charged with larceny by converting money and failing to pay it over we think a charge in this conjunctive form is good. If these acts had been charged in the disjunctive form that he either converted or failed to pay over the money the indictment would have been bad. In the case of the State vs. Carr (6 Oregon p 133) it is decided that "when the statute makes the commission of different acts a crime and such acts are stated disjunctively in the statute, the indictment may as a general rule, embrace the whole of such acts in a single count but it must use the conjunction and in the indictment where 'or' occurs in the statute." The rule laid down in that case is applicable to this and by that rule this indictment is not bad for duplicity.

The next point urged as error is that the jury was improperly drawn. It appears from the bill of exceptions that on the 8th day of October, 1879, the day the cause came on to be heard the court made an order as follows

"Order for thirty jurors." October 8 1879

It appearing to the court that the number of jurors required by the code to attend the court have not attended, and that the panel is not full. It is ordered that the sheriff of this county summon forthwith from the body of the county thirty good and lawful men, having the qualification of jurors, to serve during the term

It also appears that these thirty jurors were summoned pursuant to said order and their names placed in the jury box, there being in said box at the time, the names of twenty jurors of the required panel, who were in attendance to serve, and who were serving as jurors. The defendant by his attorneys, objected to a jury for the trial of said cause, being drawn from said box, and objected to each and every one of said jurors so drawn but the court overruled the objection, and the jury was drawn and empaneled from said box to which ruling the defendant excepted."

The jurors whose names were in the jury box constituted the panel—statute p. 142, secs. 178 179. The objection was made to this panel as being illegally made, and the objection to each individual juror was made on the ground that he was drawn from this panel, and not on the ground that he was personally disqualified or that he was biased. We think the objections to the jurors were challenges to the panel and not to the individual jurors. If when a juror was drawn, the counsel had objected to him for the reason that he was not one of the jurors on the regular panel, it would present a different question, and we might then be called on to decide whether the court had the authority to call jurors before those on the regular panel were exhausted. There is nothing in the record showing whether the persons who were drawn as jurors were of the regular jurors or of those summoned by the order of the court. We think that in order to raise this question, the objection should have been made to the individual juror that he was improperly and illegally drawn or summoned for it may be that all the jurors who were drawn were of the regular panel.

It is claimed that those names being placed in the jury box made the whole panel illegal, and was such an irregularity as will vitiate the verdict.

By the statute, when for any reason there is no a full panel, the court may order the sheriff to summon forthwith, from the body of the county jurors having the qualification of jurors to serve during the term. It appears in this case that the number of jurors required by the code did not attend for there were but twenty regular jurors on the panel. So the court had the power in part, to make up the panel. This power has we think generally been confined, in the circuit courts, to making orders to fill up the panel to twenty four trial jurors the number provided for in the code. But the statute does not limit the order to that number in express words. Still it would seem that the object of the statute was to enable the court to supply the panel with the number of jurors provided in the code to make a full panel. When however this power is exercised by the court, it is for the purpose of making the panel of jurors, and the jurors added by the order of the court, are as much a part of the panel as those who have been regularly drawn from the jury list, and if there be irregularity in making up this panel still the panel is not the subject of challenge, for challenges to the panel have been abolished. (See State vs Fitzhugh 2 Oregon p 227.) If the order was void by reason of having directed the summoning of thirty instead of four jurymen we think that matter could only be taken advantage of by an objection to the individual juror that he was not summoned as a juror and had no authority to sit.

We think that under section 1 8 of the code the court may direct the sheriff to summon any number of jurors from the body of the county for the trial of a particular case to be used when the regular panel is exhausted and though we think there was an irregularity in this case still it does not appear that a substantial right of the defendant was effected by it for it does not appear but what he was tried by jurors of the regular panel drawn from the jury list.

After the jury was empaneled the prosecution offered record evidence to show that the defendant was, at the time he converted the money the sheriff of Yamhill county. This was objected to by the defendant's counsel for the reason it was incompetent. We think this evidence was competent and relevant to show in what capacity the defendant secured and had the money. So also we think it was competent for the prosecution to prove the delinquent tax list filed by the sheriff for this was an exhibit in his favor to show he had not secured all the taxes charged to him with the amounts which he by his entries he conceded charged himself with having collected.

We think it was competent to prove by any competent evidence what sums the defendant had received at various times, as sheriff in order to show how much money belonging to the county came into his hands. He may have received these sums with the intention to account for them and pay them over to the county treasurer. It was proper for the prosecution to show by items secured by him the amount that came into his hands, and then show how much he had paid over to show the amount of his defaults [illegible] returned a large sum of money belonging to the county and refused to pay it over according to law, it was some evidence that he had converted it to his own use.

If an agent is accused of embezzling the funds of his employer [illegible] that he received a [illegible] at one time and a [illegible] at another and that [illegible] at another time [illegible] The receipts were [illegible] lawful and the crime would consist of [illegible] that the conversion which [illegible] collecting the funds [illegible] may be mounts [illegible] principal and when he has a large amount, convert the aggregate to his own use at once.

Again it is claimed by the appellant's counsel that taxes while in the hands of the sheriff are not the property of the county. We think this position is not tenable. The sheriff is the agent of the county and when he receives the taxes and receipts for them such taxes are the property of his principal, for it is a general rule that when an agent collects money for his principal the money vests in the principal when received by his agent [illegible] maxim that what one does by his agent he does himself.

The state tax due from each county when paid to the state treasurer by the county treasurer is the money of the county until paid to the state treasurer and if destroyed by fire [illegible] would be lost by the [illegible] being paid over would be lost by the [illegible]. The property in money paid for taxes passes [illegible] county when it is paid by the taxpayer [illegible] agent [illegible]

It is further contended by the [illegible] that as he [illegible] the money [illegible] sheriff and failed to pay [illegible] could only have been indicted under [illegible] the statutes which provides that any sheriff who shall neglect or refuse to pay over all money by him collected for taxes or shall convert [illegible] to make a return of the delinquent tax [illegible] county as required [illegible] shall be [illegible] be indicted therefor and upon conviction may be punished by fine not less than [illegible] nor more than $ 000 or by imprisonment [illegible] than six months nor more than one year [illegible]

[illegible] negligence [illegible] the sheriff and [illegible] have been indicted under this section for failing to pay over the money by him collected as tax [illegible] although there was no conversion of the funds nor felonious intent [illegible] higher and more heinous offense [illegible] sections were passed by the same session [illegible] [illegible] the presumption is that it was the intention of the legislature that both sections [illegible] and section [illegible] defines a crime and [illegible] [illegible] uses the words and [illegible] convert to his own use etc. This makes the conversion of the public funds a crime and it is the crime charged in the indictment and for this the appellant could not be punished under sec [illegible] It is true the section makes neglect or refusal to pay over a crime of equal magnitude as conversion and uses the same language [illegible] as in [illegible] If sec [illegible] was held to repeal that part of sec 559 which makes a neglect or refusal to pay over a crime it would leave the remaining portion of the section standing and that remaining portion which provides against conversion would support this indictment. We think it was the intention of the legislature that both these sections should stand and that they are in force and that a sheriff is embraced in sec 559 as much as any other officer for he is included in the words any person.

The points above discussed embrace all the important questions raised in the case and as there is no substantial error the judgment should be affirmed

NEW YORK Feb. 4—Governments quiet West ern Union 103¾ Erie, 47¾

The business situation in local circles is rather quiet, with a fair demand for loanable funds at about the same rates current for several months past. With first class personal or eligible real estate security borrowers can obtain capital on yearly notes at 10 per cent. per annum. Accommodation loans through brokers are more costly in proportion to the gullibility of the borrower and the conscience of the negotiator. But the day is passed when the borrower is at the mercy of those who were not satisfied with anything reasonable in the way of interest and commissions.

In general trade there is a good deal of activity and the appearance of a considerable number of buyers from the interior in this market is noticed. They come prepared only to fill up broken stocks until time for making selections for the spring trade. The advance which has taken place in nearly all lines of imported goods within the past six months is a matter of surprise to a good many merchants doing business at remote points, who only visit the greater markets two or three times in the year. When these dealers return home the people throughout the country will begin to feel the effects of the return of prosperity in the higher cost of everything which they consume.

The wheat market is still stagnant and many who are usually ready buyers are holding off at present, waiting for some turn in the markets at the east and in Europe, on which everything hinges. Just what this "turn" will be no one knows, and few seem to have any idea. The few transactions which have taken place during the last week have hardly been sufficient to establish quotations, and $1 85 down to $1 80 are given by dealers as current though these are more nominal than otherwise. The San Francisco reports indicate no real improvement there, special transactions in choice lots for specific purposes forming no standard from which to judge the condition of the market.

NEW YORK FREIGHTS AND MARKETS.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN]

NEW YORK, Feb 4,—Business at the wharves of California vessels is very quiet and ships load slowly. The notice of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, that they are prepared to make time contracts with shippers at a reasonable rate has caused many of the latter to hold back their freight until the company announce their programme, which will not be until the departure of the steamer of the 12th hence. The clipper market is likely to be dull until that time, when it is possible there will be a movement in certain classes of freight, as some shippers will be disappointed if they think the steamers are going to the market for coarse freight in opposition to the clippers. It is the railroads they are going to compete with and finer kinds of freight. Rates by clipper are nominally firm, but some lines of freight have been placed at reduced rates.

The tonnage in port is very large but there is a scarcity of such vessels as are suitable for the California trade. However there are a number pointing this way and by the 1st of March there will be plenty here. The latest charters are the bark Girard Tobey, 1459 tons for Van Vleck's line also the David Crockett, just arrived and the Oracle, 1500 tons the ship M P Grace 1926 tons, and W. R. Grace 1892 tons cargoes of coal from Baltimore on account of the Central Pacific railroad. Red Cross 1801 tons, cargo of rails from Philadelphia to Portland. Steamer freights are quite active, and the next steamer will have a very full cargo for the California market.

The markets do not show much activity. Breadstuffs are dull and depressed with little doing for export. There is still an absence of export inquiry for the reason that the British markets are 2 and 3 cents below this while the continental markets are still further below ours

Barley—Quiet; there is no market here for California barley, and holders prefer to store in place of selling at a sacrifice or forcing the market, the cargo of the bark Colum, 73 000 bushels will be held in store

Provisions—Dull lower by 25@30c on pork and 15@20 on lard

San Francisco Markets and Charters

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN]

SAN FRANCISCO Feb 4—The freight market is very dull and the tendency is toward lower rates. There is no disposition to take up tonnage in the face of the unfavorable state of the English markets and to effect charters a concession from the rates last paid would be necessary

Fruit—We note better inquiry for jobbing quotations—Apples 40@70c for common $1@1 50 for good to choice

Butter—A good portion of the receipts from the lower coast yesterday changed hands at [illegible] There is but little stock in store yet it is hard to place consignments of fresh choice at over [illegible]c though some few fancy brands bring [illegible]c

Eggs—The weakness noticed yesterday culminated in a fall to 25c which is the ruling rate to-day and dealers are doubtful if that figure can be maintained

Hepatitis or Liver Complaint

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver

PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs increases on pressure, sometimes the pain is in the left side the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder and is sometimes mistaken for rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness, the bowels in general are costive sometimes alternative with lax the head is troubled with pain accompanied with a dull heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility he is easily startled his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin his spirits are low, and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the LIVER to have been extensively deranged.

AGUE AND FEVER

DR C McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, IN CASES OF AGUE AND FEVER when taken with Quinine, are productive of the most happy results. No better cathartic can be used preparatory to or after taking Quinine. We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them a FAIR TRIAL

For all bilious derangements, and as a simple purgative, they are unequaled

EVERDING & FARRELL

PEND OREILLE DIVISION.

THE NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY

Is now offering for sale nearly

5,000,000

Acres of its lands in the Pend d'Oreille Division in Eastern Oregon, which are comprised in the odd numbered sections for forty miles on each side of the rail road and now located from the mouth of Snake River in Washington Territory to Lake Pend d'Oreille in Idaho. These lands of unexcelled fertility and adapted to farming on any scale that may be desired are offered by the Railroad Company at such prices and terms as cannot fail to induce settlement and cultivation causing a rapid growth in population of the country and increase in value to those who now purchase

The following Resolution of the Board of Directors of the Railroad Company passed November 24th 1879 fixes the cash price of land to actual settlers at two dollars and sixty cents per acre, which it is believed is a lower price than has ever been voluntarily placed upon its lands by any land grant company. This is in fact cheaper than the settler can purchase the same class of land of the Government under the pre-emption law for the expense attending the making of final proof and the journey to the land office which he must necessarily make in order to complete his entry is more than the ten cents per acre added to the government price by the Railroad Company

Resolved That the Agricultural Lands of the Company west of the Missouri river to Puget Sound shall be offered for sale to actual settlers at Government price of $2 50 per acre with an addition thereto of ten cents per acre to be paid to the Company to reimburse it for the cost of selecting, surveying and conveying said land

This resolution does not apply to coal or iron lands nor to lands chiefly valuable for timber nor to lands required for town sites or suitable for manufacturing sites nor in regions where water is scarce to lands containing springs or other natural supply where it shall be for the interest of settlers at large that such water privileges shall not be exclusively held or controlled by any individual nor to the lands required for the use of the Company in connection with the operation of the road

To persons wishing to purchase on time this remarkably low price of four dollars per acre is given on the following terms. One fourth cash at time of purchase the balance in three equal yearly payments at 7 per cent. interest. The above price for time sales is adopted for the present but may be subject to change in the future.

All persons who have filed with the Railroad Company notices of intention to purchase or Settlers Applications as they are called for land in this Division (except for the class of lands reserved by the terms of the resolution above given) and who have continued to reside upon or cultivate the land applied for, are requested to complete their purchase by making cash payment or time contract for the same. For this purpose application should be made to the Railroad Land Office at Colfax

Persons who have not made actual settlement or improvement upon land they may have applied for have no right to the first privilege of purchase such lands will be sold to the first applicant. Those persons who have in good faith settled upon and improved the Company's land should lose no time in securing the same as after a given time the land is subject to any other person.

The land in this division being now offered for sale no more Settlers Applications will be filed

THE YAMHILL EMBEZZLEMENT

e Judgment against ex-Sheriff Dale Affirmed by the Supreme Court

THE SUPREME COURT OF THE STATE OF OREGON JANUARY TERM 1880

The State of Oregon plaintiff and respondent vs H C Dale defendant and appellant Appeal from Yamhill county

Statement of the Case—The defendant was sheriff and tax collector of Yamhill county from July 1 1876 to July 1 1878 He was indicted by the grand jury of said county at the March term of the circuit court of said county for 1879 for larceny of public money The following is a copy of the indictment to wit

In the circuit court of the state of Oregon within and for Yamhill county State of Oregon plaintiff vs H C Dale defendant—Indictment

H C Dale is accused by the grand jury of Yamhill county and state of Oregon by this indictment of the crime of the larceny of public money committed as follows Tha said H C Dale was the duly elected qualified and acting sheriff and tax collector of the county of Yamhill in the state of Oregon from the first Monday in July 1876 until the first Monday in July A D 1878 and as such sheriff and tax collector of said Yamhill county said H C Dale had received and had in his possession in said Yamhill county on the 7th day of August 1878 the sum of $3000 in gold and silver coin of the United states of America belonging to and being the property of said county of Yamhill which said moneys he had received and collected between the 15th day of September, 1877 and the 7th day of August A D 1878 as taxes assessed and duly levied by the county court of said county and that the said H C Dale on the said 7th day of August A D 1878 in said Yamhill county state of Oregon, then and there being and having in his possession said sum of $3000 which belonged to and was the personal property of said Yamhill county Oregon and which he had collected and received as taxes aforesaid did then and there, fraudulently and feloniously take steal and make way with embezzle and convert to his and H C Dale's own use the said $3000 and then and there neglected and refused to pay over and does still neglect and refuse to pay over to the said county of Yamhill said $3000 or any part thereof as by law directed and required said county of Yamhill being a [illegible] of said time a public corporation in the state of Oregon and the grand jury being unable to give or ascertain a more definite description of said money than that above given contrary to the statute in such cases made and provided and against the peace and dignity of the state of Oregon Dated at Lafayette in Yamhill county, Oregon, this 28th day of March A D 1879

J J WHITNEY District Atty

The defendant was arraigned upon and pleaded not guilty to said indictment at the March term of said court, A D 1879 No demurrer was filed to said indictment. On motion of the defendant the case was postponed until the October term of said circuit court for 1879 The defendant was tried on said indictment and a verdict of which the following is a copy was rendered on the 10th day of October, 1879 to wit

The State of Oregon pltff vs H. C Dale deft.

We the jury in the above entitled action find defendant guilty as charged in the indictment and find that the amount of money converted was the sum of $3500

J. M. HOLSTON, Foreman.

October 10, 1879

On the 15th day of October, 1879, the defendant was sentenced to imprisonment in the penitentiary for the term of five years and fined $5000 From this judgment the defendant has appealed to this court, and asks that the same be reversed for alleged errors occurring on the trial, and which are hereinafter set forth There were two bills of exceptions allowed in the case,—the one last signed corrects and amends the first.

SYLLABUS

Where the statute makes the commission of different acts a crime and uses the word "or" connecting these acts, an indictment is good which charges the defendants with the commission of more than one of these acts, using the conjunction "and" to connect these acts in the indictment

Where an objection to a juror is that he is drawn from a particular panel, and not that the juror is personally disqualified or improperly summoned, such objection is a challenge to the panel.

In a prosecution of a sheriff for converting money collected by him as taxes it is competent to show that he received sums of money from different individual taxpayers

Money collected by a sheriff for taxes is the property of the county in the hands of the sheriff, and he may be guilty of larceny by converting the same to his own use.

OPINION BY BOISE, J.

The appellant claims that the indictment in this case does not charge a crime There was no demurrer filed to the indictment in the circuit court, and the appellant has in his argument failed to point out any defect in the indictment except this It is claimed that it charges the defendant with converting the money and also with having failed to pay it over. Either of these acts would be a crime, and as he is charged with larceny by converting money and failing to pay it over we think a charge in this conjunctive form is good If these acts had been charged in the disjunctive form that he either converted or failed to pay over the money the indictment would have been bad In the case of the State vs. Carr (6 Oregon, p 133) it is decided that "when the statute makes the commission of different acts a crime, and such acts are stated disjunctively in the statute, the indictment may, as a general rule, embrace the whole of such acts in a single count, but it must use the conjunction and in the indictment where 'or' occurs in the statute The rule laid down in that case is applicable to this and by that rule this indictment is not bad for duplicity.

The next point urged as error is that the jury was improperly drawn. It appears from the bill of exceptions that on the 8th day of October, 1879, the day the cause came on to be heard the court made an order as follows

"Order for thirty jurors" October 8, 1879

It appearing to the court that the number of jurors required by the code to attend the court have not attended, and that the panel is not full It is ordered that the sheriff of this county summon forthwith from the body of the county thirty good and lawful men, having the qualification of jurors, to serve during the term.

It also appears that these thirty jurors were summoned pursuant to said order, and their names placed in the jury box, there being in said box at the time, the names of twenty jurors of the required panel who were in attendance to serve and who were serving as jurors. The defendant by his attorneys objected to a jury for the trial of said cause, being drawn from said box, and objected to each and every one of said jurors so drawn; but the court overruled the objection, and the jury was drawn and empaneled from said box, to which ruling the defendant excepted "

The jurors whose names were in the jury box constituted the panel—statute, p. 142, secs. 178-179 The objection was made to this panel as being illegally made, and the objection to each individual juror was made on the ground that he was drawn from this panel, and not on the ground that he was personally disqualified or that he was biased. We think the objections to the jurors were challenges to the panel and not to the individual jurors If, when a juror was drawn, the counsel had objected to him for the reason that he was not one of the jurors on the regular panel, it would present a different question, and we might then be called on to decide whether the court had the authority to call jurors before those on the regular panel were exhausted. There is nothing in the record showing whether the persons who were drawn as jurors were of the regular jurors or of those summoned by the order of the court. We think that in order to raise this question, the objection should have been made to the individual juror that he was improperly and illegally drawn or summoned, for it may be that all the jurors who were drawn were of the regular panel,

It is claimed that those names being placed in the jury box made the whole panel illegal, and was such an irregularity as will vitiate the verdict.

By the statute, when for any reason there is not a full panel, the court may order the sheriff to summon forthwith, from the body of the county, jurors having the qualification of jurors to serve during the term It appears in this case that the number of jurors required by the code did not attend, for there were but twenty regular jurors on the panel So the court had the power, in part, to make up the panel This power has we think generally been confined, in the circuit courts, to making orders to fill up the panel to twenty four trial jurors, the number provided for in the code. But the statute does not limit the order to that number in express words Still it would seem that the object of the statute was to enable the court to supply the panel with the number of jurors provided in the code to make a full panel When however this power is exercised by the court, it is for the purpose of making the panel of jurors, and the jurors added by the order of the court, are as much a part of the panel as those who have been regularly drawn from the jury list, and if there be irregularity in making up this panel still the panel is not the subject of challenge, for challenges to the panel have been abolished (See State vs Fitzhugh, 2 Oregon p 272.) If the order was void by reason of having directed the summoning of thirty instead of four jurymen we think that matter could only be taken advantage of by an objection to the individual juror that he was not summoned as a juror and had no authority to sit.

We think that under section 173 of the code the court may direct the sheriff to summon any number of jurors from the body of the county for the trial of a particular case, to be used when the regular panel is exhausted, and though we think there was an irregularity in this case still it does not appear that a substantial right of the defendant was effected by it, for it does not appear but what he was tried by jurors of the regular panel drawn from the jury list

After the jury was empaneled the prosecution offered record evidence to show that the defendant was, at the time he converted the money the sheriff of Yamhill county This was objected to by the defendant's counsel, for the reason it was incompetent We think this evidence was competent and relevant to show in what capacity the defendant secured and had the money So also we think it was competent for the prosecution to prove the delinquent tax list filed by the sheriff for this was an exhibit in his favor to show he had not secured all the taxes charged to him, with the amounts which he by his entries thereon, had charged himself with having collected

We think it was competent to prove by any competent evidence, what sums the defendant had received at various times as sheriff in order to show how much money belonging to the county came into his hands. He may have received these sums with the intention to account for them and pay them over to the county treasurer It was proper for the prosecution to show by items secured by him the amount that came into his hands, and then show how much he had paid over to show the amount of his defaults [illegible] returned a large sum of money belonging to the county and refused to pay it over according to law it was some evidence that he had converted it to his own use

If an agent is accused of embezzling the funds of his employer [illegible] be competent to show that he received [illegible] from A at one time and [illegible] at other and the [illegible] at another time [illegible] The receipts [illegible] lawful and the crime [illegible] conversion [illegible] be [illegible] collecting the funds [illegible] it may be [illegible] principal and when he has a large amount, convert the aggregate to his own use at once.

Again It is claimed by the appellant's counsel that taxes while in the hands of the sheriff are not the property of the county We think this position is not tenable The sheriff is the agent of the county and when he received the taxes and receipts for them such taxes are the property of his principal, for it is a general rule that when an agent collects money for his principal the money vests in the principal when received by his agent on the maxim that what one does by his agent he does himself

The state tax due from each county when paid to the state treasurer by the county treasurer is the money of the county until paid to the state treasurer and if destroyed by fire or act of God before being paid over would be lost by the county The property in money paid for taxes passes to the county when it is paid by the taxpayer to the sheriff who is the officer and agent of the county

It is further contended by the counsel for the appellant that as he collected the money as tax collector and sheriff and failed to pay it over he could only have been indicted under section [illegible] of the statutes which provides that any sheriff who shall neglect or refuse to pay over all moneys by him collected for taxes or shall refuse or neglect to make a return of the delinquent list [illegible] his county as required [illegible] shall be liable to be indicted therefor and upon conviction may be punished by fine not less than [illegible] nor more than $1000 or by imprisonment not less than six months nor more than one year [illegible]

This statute provides for punishing criminal negligence in the sheriff and the appellant might have been indicted under that section for failing to pay over the money by him collected as tax collections although there was no conversion [illegible] the funds nor felonious intent Sec [illegible] defines a higher and more heinous offense and as both sections were passed by the same session of the legislature the presumption is that it was the intention of the legislature that both sections should stand, and sec [illegible] defines a crime not mentioned in sec [illegible] where it uses the words "and shall convert to his own use" etc. This makes the conversion of the public funds a crime and this is the crime charged in the indictment and for this the appellant could not be punished under sec [illegible] It is true the section makes neglect or refusal to pay over a crime of equal magnitude as conversion and uses the same language in defining it as [illegible] sec 569 If sec 731 was held to repeal that part of sec 569 which makes a neglect or refusal to pay over a crime it would leave the remaining portion of the section standing and that remaining portion which provides against conversion would support this indictment We think it was the intention of the legislature that both these sections should stand and that they are in force, and that a sheriff is embraced in sec 569 as much as any other officer for he is included in the words "any person"

The points above discussed embrace all the important questions raised in the case and as there is no substantial error, the judgment should be affirmed

NEW YORK Feb 4 —Governments quiet West'rn Union 103¾ Erie 47¾

The business situation in local circles is rather quiet, with a fair demand for loanable funds at about the same rates current for several months past With first class personal or eligible real estate security borrowers can obtain capital on yearly notes at 10 per cent per annum. Accommodation loans through brokers are more costly in proportion to the gullibility of the borrower and the conscience of the negotiator But the day is passed when the borrower is at the mercy of those who were not satisfied with anything reasonable in the way of interest and commissions

In general trade there is a good deal of activity and the appearance of a considerable number of buyers from the interior in this market is noticed They come prepared only to fill up broken stocks until time for making selections for the spring trade. The advance which has taken place in nearly all lines of imported goods within the past six months is a matter of surprise to a good many merchants doing business at remote points, who only visit the greater markets two or three times in the year. When those dealers return home the people throughout the country will begin to feel the effects of the return of prosperity in the higher cost of everything which they consume

The wheat market is still stagnant and many who are usually ready buyers are holding off at present, waiting for some turn in the markets at the east and in Europe, on which everything hinges. Just what this "turn" will be no one knows, and few seem to have any idea The few transactions which have taken place during the last week have hardly been sufficient to establish quotations, and $1 75 down to $1 80 are given by dealers as current though these are more nominal than otherwise. The San Francisco reports indicate no real improvement there, special transactions in choice lots for specific purposes forming no standard from which to judge the condition of the market.

NEW YORK FREIGHTS AND MARKETS.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN]

NEW YORK, Feb 4—Business at the wharves of California vessels is very quiet and ships load slowly. The notice of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, that they are prepared to make time contracts with shippers at a reasonable rate has caused many of the latter to hold back their freight until the company announce their programme which will not be until the departure of the steamer of the 12th hence The clipper market is likely to be dull until that time, when it is possible there will be a movement in certain classes of freight, as some shippers will be disappointed if they think the steamers are going to the market for coarse freight in opposition to the clippers It is the railroads they are going to compete with and finer kinds of freight. Rates by clipper are nominally firm, but some lines of freight have been placed at reduced rates.

The tonnage in port is very large but there is a scarcity of such vessels as are suitable for the California trade. However there are a number pointing this way, and by the 1st of March there will be plenty here The latest charters are the bark Girard Tobey, 1459 tons for Van Vleck's line also the David Crockett, just arrived and the Oracle, 1500 tons the ship M P. Grace, 1925 tons, and W R. Grace 1892 tons, cargoes of coal from Baltimore on account of the Central Pacific railroad Red Cross, 1301 tons, cargo of rails from Philadelphia to Portland. Steamer freights are quite active, and the next steamer will have a very full cargo for the California market.

The markets do not show much activity Breadstuffs are dull and depressed, with little doing for export. There is still an absence of export inquiry for the reason that the British markets are 2 and 3 cents below this while the continental markets are still further below ours

Barley—Quiet, there is no market here for California barley, and holders prefer to store in place of selling at a sacrifice or forcing the market the cargo of the bark Colusa, 73 000 bushels, will be held in store

Provisions—Dull, lower by 25@30c on pork and 15@20 on lard

San Francisco Markets and Charters

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN]

SAN FRANCISCO Feb 4 —The freight market is very dull, and the tendency is toward lower rates. There is no disposition to take up tonnage in the face of the unfavorable state of the English markets and to effect charters a concession from the rates last paid would be necessary

Fruit—We note better inquiry for jobbing quotations—Apples 40@75c for common, $1@1 50 for good to choice

Butter—A good portion of the receipts from the lower coast yesterday changed hands at 24c There is but little stock in store yet it is hard to place consignments of fresh choice at over 25c though some few fancy brands bring 26c

Eggs—The weakness noticed yesterday culminated in a fall to 25c which is the ruling rate to day and dealers are doubtful if that figure can be maintained

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver

PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure, sometimes the pain is in the left side, the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness, the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax, the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant The patient complains of weariness and debility, he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin, his spirits are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it In fact, he distrusts every remedy Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the LIVER to have been extensively deranged

AGUE AND FEVER

DR C McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, IN CASES OF AGUE AND FEVER, when taken with Quinine, are productive of the most happy results No better cathartic can be used preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them a FAIR TRIAL

LANDS,

PEN D'OREILLE DIVISION.

THE NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY

Is now offering for sale nearly

5,000,000

Acres of its lands in the Pend d'Oreille Division in Eastern Oregon which are comprised in the odd numbered sections for forty miles on each side of the railroad as now located from the mouth of Snake River in Washington Territory, to Lake Pend d'Oreille in Idaho These lands of unexcelled fertility and adapted to farming on any scale that may be desired are offered by the Railroad Company at such prices and terms as cannot fail to induce settlement and cultivation causing a rapid growth in population of the country, and increase in value to those who now purchase

The following Resolution of the Board of Directors of the Railroad Company passed November 13th 1879, fixes the cash price of land to actual settlers at two dollars and sixty cents per acre, which it is believed is a lower price than has ever been voluntarily placed upon its lands by any land grant company This is in fact, cheaper than the settler can purchase the same class of land of the Government under the pre-emption law, for the expense attending the making of final proof, and the journey to the land office which he must necessarily make in order to complete his entry, is more than the ten cents per acre added to the government price by the Railroad Company

Resolved That the Agricultural Lands of the Company west of the Missouri river to Puget Sound shall be offered for sale to actual settlers at Government price of $2 50 per acre with an addition thereto of ten cents per acre to be paid to the Company to reimburse it for the cost of selecting surveying and conveying said land

This resolution does not apply to coal or iron lands nor to lands chiefly valuable for timber, nor to lands required for town sites or suitable for manufacturing sites nor in regions where water is scarce to lands containing springs or other natural supply, where it shall be for the interest of settlers at large that such water privileges shall not be exclusively held or controlled by any individual nor to the lands required for the use of the Company in connection with the operation of the road

To persons wishing to purchase on time the remarkably low price of four dollars per acre is given on the following terms One fourth cash at time of purchase the balance in three equal yearly payments at 7 per cent interest. The above price for time sales is adopted for the present, but may be subject to change in the future

All persons who have filed with the Railroad Company notices of intention to purchase or "Settlers Applications" as they are called for land in this Division (except for the class of lands reserved by the terms of the resolution above given) and who have continued to reside upon or cultivate the land and applied for are requested to complete their purchase by making cash payment, or time contract for the same. For this purpose application should be made to the Railroad Land Office at Colfax

Persons who have not made actual settlement or improvement upon land they may have applied for, have no right to the first privilege of purchase such lands will be sold to the first applicant Those persons who have in good faith settled upon and improved the Company's land should lose no time in securing the same as after a given time the land is subject to sale to any other person
